Identify the order of events

Putting events in the right order helps us understand the development of a plot or a person's growth.

We can do this by reading:

- sequence words, e.g. 'first', 'then', 'next', 'before', 'after that', 'later'
- time words, e.g. 'today', 'yesterday', 'last week', '2025'

Try this!

Read the paragraph and complete the exercise.

Roald Dahl wrote The Gremlins before Charlie and the Chocolate Factory, but it was not very popular. Twenty years later, in 1964, Dahl published Charlie and the Chocolate Factory. The story was inspired by his childhood experience: After tasting free chocolate bars at school, he dreamt of visiting a chocolate factory. The book became very popular and was turned into films in 1971 and 2005. Surprisingly, the film The Gremlins, released in 1984, was a big success!

1. Which book did Roald Dahl write first? Circle the answer.

The Gremlins / Charlie and the Chocolate Factory

2. When did they appear? Write the years on the lines.

(a) _____ The film The Gremlins was released.

(b) _____ Charlie and the Chocolate Factory was printed.

(c) _____ The first Charlie and the Chocolate Factory film was released.

(d) _____ The second Charlie and the Chocolate Factory film was released.

3. Put the events in order. Write the numbers 1-4 on the lines.

(a) _____ Roald Dahl wrote The Gremlins.

(b) _____ The film The Gremlins was released.

(c) _____ The book Charlie and the Chocolate Factory was published.

(d) _____ The second Charlie and the Chocolate Factory film was released.
